

Name: _____

Commonly Confused Words: Me vs. Myself

Me and myself refer to the same person, but they are used differently.

Me is the objective pronoun that a speaker uses to refer to himself.

Example 1: She asked me for directions.

Myself is the reflexive pronoun that a speaker uses to refer to something the speaker does to herself, or it is used for emphasis.

Example 1: I hit myself with the tennis racket.

Example 2: I don't like rain myself.

Me
y s e l
f

Choose me or myself to complete each sentence.

1. This is a gift to you from _____.
2. I asked _____ if it was worth the trouble.
3. Tell _____ when you are ready to leave.
4. I fixed my car _____.
5. Please ask _____ if you have questions.
6. I called _____ to see if my phone was working.
7. They wanted _____ to see for _____ that the basement was flooding.
8. It seemed to _____ that the sky was suddenly darker.
9. Lupe helped _____ with the homework assignment.
10. It was so loud that I couldn't hear _____ think.

Name: _____ Key

Commonly Confused Words: Me vs. Myself

Me and myself refer to the same person, but they are used differently.

Me is the objective pronoun that a speaker uses to refer to himself.

Example 1: She asked me for directions.

Myself is the reflexive pronoun that a speaker uses to refer to something the speaker does to herself, or it is used for emphasis.

Example 1: I hit myself with the tennis racket.

Example 2: I don't like rain myself.

Me
y
s e
f

Choose me or myself to complete each sentence.

1. This is a gift to you from me.
2. I asked myself if it was worth the trouble.
3. Tell me when you are ready to leave.
4. I fixed my car myself.
5. Please ask me if you have questions.
6. I called myself to see if my phone was working.
7. They wanted me to see for myself that the basement was flooding.
8. It seemed to me that the sky was suddenly darker.
9. Lupe helped me with the homework assignment.
10. It was so loud that I couldn't hear myself think.