

Find the Pieces: Predicate Adjective, Noun and Verb

A predicate adjective is an adjective that follows a linking verb and describes the subject of a sentence.

Example: The rose smelled sweet.

Sweet is an adjective, and it follows the linking verb smelled. It describes the subject rose.

Underline the predicate adjectives in the sentences below. Circle the subjects in the sentences and put parenthesis around the linking verb.

1. That house is large.
2. He will be angry if we don't call.
3. The black puppy was scared.
4. The big dinner tasted good.
5. The clouds were purple when the storm came in.
6. She looked happy to see us.
7. That big orange car is ugly.
8. My mother seemed happy with the change of plans.
9. They were thrilled about the news.
10. After a long day, the busy farmer felt tired.

Find the Pieces: Predicate Adjective, Noun and Verb

A predicate adjective is an adjective that follows a linking verb and describes the subject of a sentence.

Example: The rose smelled sweet.

Sweet is an adjective, and it follows the linking verb smelled. It describes the subject rose.

Underline the predicate adjectives in the sentences below. Circle the subjects in the sentences and put parenthesis around the linking verb.

1. That house (is) large.
2. (He) (will be) angry if we don't call.
3. The black puppy (was) scared.
4. The big dinner (tasted) good.
5. The clouds (were) purple when the storm came in.
6. (She) (looked) happy to see us.
7. That big orange car (is) ugly.
8. My mother (seemed) happy with the change of plans.
9. (They) (were) thrilled about the news.
10. After a long day, the busy farmer (felt) tired.