

Conclusion Checklist

A conclusion is an important part of any essay or other type of written piece. It should include a restatement of the thesis, a review of the main points, and other appropriate points.

Below is a writing template to use for the topic listed. Then there is a checklist to make sure you have written a strong conclusion.

Where in the World Would You Like to Visit?

It's a big world with lots to do and see. Where in the world would you like to go? What would you do when you get there. Why do you want to go there? What would you see that is interesting?

I. Introduction

II. Body

Main Point 1.

Main Point 2.

Main Point 3.

III. Conclusion:

Conclusion Checklist

1. Write how you restated your thesis.
2. Write how you reviewed your main points.
3. Did you include any other points in your conclusion? If so, what were they?

Below is a writing template to use for the topic listed. Then there is a checklist to make sure you have written a strong conclusion.

It's a big world with lots to do and see. Where in the world would you like to go? What would you do when you get there. Why do you want to go there? What would you see that is interesting?

Conclusion Checklist

1. Write how you restated your thesis.

2. Write how you reviewed your main points.

3. Did you include any other points in your conclusion? If so, what were they?

Main Point 3.

III. Conclusion: